How to find us

Things of interest

Coniston Water is dominated by the surrounding fells regarded by many as some of the regions finest. Copper and Slate were mined in the high fells around Coniston, with copper mining reaching its peak in 1856. Slate mining continues to this day, with the distinctive silver-green slate being sold the world over. Farming is widespread around Coniston Water and the Herdwick sheep you may encounter are only to be found on the fells.
